

Use the knowledge you've acquired to challenge others who obviously don't know your belabored as well as you do.

Step 4: Debate

Step 5: See the Light

Reassess your prior takes on what characters really grind your gears. Come to realize that in spite of all the teeth grindingly infuriating feelings this character may give you, it isn't worth it to get that pressed.

Analyze what about this character reminds you of your cringe ass baby middle school self, tripping on your ass while running to submit your midterm in time. Or perhaps think of a scenario where, if someone was like them, they could possibly even be your friend.

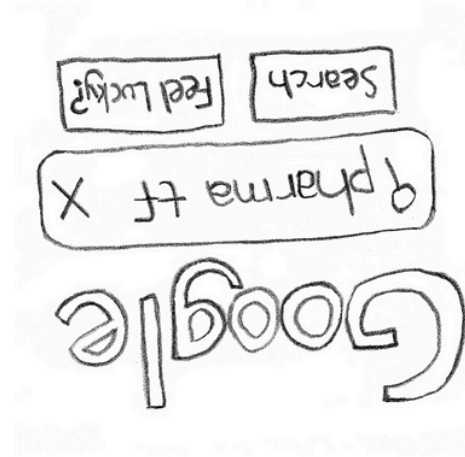

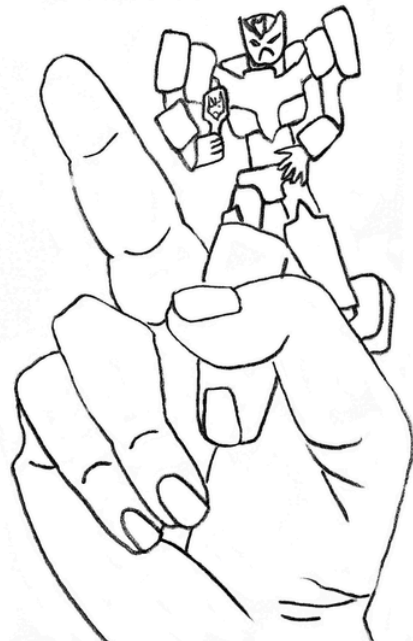

Empathy is one of the first steps to letting go and touching grass, which is a healthy hobby...

Share your message with others and recruit allies in your hate.

Step 3: Spread Propaganda

Step 6: Continue to Hate

Absorb all information available on them. Become well acquainted with your target.

Step 2: Research
